

See the Northern Lights with AAPT in Anchorage

2006 AAPT Winter Meeting · January 21-25

William A. Egan Civic & Convention Center, Anchorage, AK

REGISTRATION FEE:

Member:	$200 (early)	$225 (advance)	$250 (onsite)
Nonmember:	$250 (early)	$275 (advance)	$300 (onsite)
Undergraduate Student:	$40 (early)	$50 (advance)	$60 (onsite)
Graduate Student:	$60 (early)	$70 (advance)	$80 (onsite)

LODGING CHOICES:

A room block is reserved for AAPT at the Hilton Hotel.

Details are available on our website, <http://www.aapt.org/Events/WM2006>.

PLENARY SPEAKERS:

Hans Christian von Baeyer, Chancellor Professor of Physics, College of William and Mary
"How I Learned to Stop Worrying About Schrödinger's Cat"

Nadya Mason, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, Nanometer-scale and Mesoscopic Physics

Paul Steinhardt, Albert Einstein Professor of Science, Princeton University, "A Tale of Two Universes"

SOME SAT. & SUN. WORKSHOPS INCLUDE (only partial list):

- Franklin and Electrostatics
- Radiation, Black Holes, and Gravitational Waves: Studying the Early Universe with LISA
- Analysis of Supernovae Remnants to Determine the Properties of the Progenitor Star
- A Den of Inquiry: Real Data Analysis for Introductory Physics
- Online DL Science Courses and Virtual Laboratories
- Physics for Elementary Teachers: A New Curriculum?
- NASA: Exploring the Hot Universe with the Coolest Satellite in Orbit
- Exploring Contemporary Physics in Introductory University Physics
- The SENCER Project and Civic Engagement in the Physics Curriculum
- Using Case Studies to Teach Physics

SOME MON. – WED. PAPER SESSIONS INCLUDE (only partial list):

- Connecting Physics to Emerging Technologies in the Introductory Course
- Frontiers in Space Science and Astronomy
- Physics of the International Polar Year
- Hot Topics in Alaska
- Maintaining Integrity in Two-Year Physics Courses
- Gender Issues in Science and Education
- Thermal Physics
- Physics and the Environment
- Reducing Teacher Isolation: Induction and Mentoring
- Distance Learning and the Impact of the WWW
- Contributions of Women in Physics in Alaska
- Physics Teaching Around the World

More information can be found on our website, www.aapt.org, as it becomes available.

American Association of Physics Teachers